Shortly after ordering, you have the option to take full advantage of the product, even if you have not yet paid. You have 7 days to make the payment.

During this time, you can safely test the product and decide if its functionalities suit you.

After the 7-day period, in the absence of payment, we will block the license and you will not be able to use this license without payment. A deactivated license also results in product operating limitations, which was mentioned at the beginning of the document.
